Bankers' Commission to Meet Here To-morrow.

Leading Financiers of Country Coming to Washington.

Methods for Facing the Financial Emergencies that Are Constantly Arising in the Course of Business Will Be Suggested-Scope of Work in Contemplation Is Outlined by W. 7-New York Republicans Claim Bruce's V. Cox, One of the Local Members.

A meeting of prominent bankers will be held in Washington beginning at 12 o'clock to-morrow at the New Willard, the proceedings of which will be watched with keenest interest by financiers all over the United States. It is the first meeting of the currency commission of the American Bankers' Association, and its object is to suggest to the American people and to Congress a plan to establish in this country a more elastic banking currency to meet the financial emergencies which are constantly arising in the course of busi-

The Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency will be invited to attend the sessions of the commission, and it is expected that both will deliver addresses before the commission

This commission was appointed by the executive committee of the American Bankers' Association, pursuant to a resolution adopted at the recent meeting of the body in St. Louis.

While the proposed legislation would greatly reduce the associations' power by bringing them under the direct supervion of the commission, it would be welome to their officers and the railroads or one reason. They have lived in con stant fear for years of prosecution by the Federal Department of Justice for violat ing the anti-trust law. The amount o the fines which could be collected if such rosecutions were successfully conducted would be enormous, for the associations are numerous, and every railroad in the
